

Key to Effective Music Teaching

Teaching Diploma Preparation Course

- Taught by experienced examiner from London College of Music Examinations, UK
- Acquire teaching techniques, music pedagogy and assessment skills
- Work towards London College of Music Teaching Diploma exams
- Join the network of professional music teachers
- LCM Certificate upon successful completion
- Awarded & accredited by London College of Music

For more details, visit www.lui.com.sg/tdpc

Steinway Method with recorders

Gain More Than A Teaching Diploma

Designed for new or existing teachers, the London College of Music Examinations Teaching Diploma Preparation Course (LCM TD Prep Course) will challenge participants to strengthen their teaching skills, musical knowledge, and prepare to sit for a potential diploma exam.

Developed and taught by programme lead, Dr. John Hooper (LCM Examiner), this course offers a structured approach to teaching music through instrumental or vocal instruction.

Holistic teaching provides the key to a meaningful and long lasting music teaching career. The course incorporates in-class lectures, assignments, discussions, applied theory, research, and demonstration as well as a few individual projects designed to prepare participants to undertake the LCM Teaching Diploma exam.

Upon successful completion of course, participants receive a Completion Certificate awarded by London College of Music Exams. LCM Teaching Diploma Exam is available in 3 sessions a year.

INTRODUCTORY OFFER

SGD $2,800.00

Sign up with a friend
Get another S$50 off

First come first serve.
Register today at www.lui.com.sg/tdpc

LIMITED
PLACES
AVAILABLE!

COURSE OBJECTIVES

1. Develop essential skills and strategies for studio music teaching
2. Establish and employ various teaching techniques
3. Incorporate musical ideas and expressive artistry into personal and student performance
4. Integrate aspects of musicianship, including music literacy, ear training, and stylistic understanding into music performance and teaching
5. Evaluate student and personal performances
6. Ability to evaluate personal and student performance
7. Confidently articulate ideas on music pedagogy and teaching
8. Research and discover information on such topics as sight reading, improvisation, accompanying, pedagogical use of recording, group lessons and ensemble leading
9. Establish positive and supportive relationships with other music teachers
10. Compile a resource notebook of personal notes and relevant materials
11. Prepare to sit for a London College of Music Teaching Diploma examination

PRE-REQUISITES

- LCM (or equivalent) performance grade 8
- LCM (or equivalent) theory grade 8
(Note: Prep class available for applicants requiring to meet practical / theory grade 8.)
- Desire, commitment and enthusiasm to learn and develop

ABOUT JOHN HOOPER

Currently an examiner with the London College of Music Examinations Board, Dr. John Hooper served for twenty years as professor of music at Concordia University of Edmonton in Canada.

Acknowledged as a fine educator and conductor, he frequently presents workshops, seminars, and lectures for various music and educational organizations.

In addition, he is a composer with several works in publication or available on line.

His work has taken him throughout the world. He has taught in Australia, Qatar, Singapore, India, Egypt, Indonesia and the USA. In addition, he has been a guest conductor for professional organizations in the U.K., Japan, Australia, Hong Kong, and Canada.

Dr. Hooper's dedication to music education, coupled with his wide background in a range of musical endeavours, makes him uniquely qualified to guide, support, and encourage music teachers as they seek to develop their craft. His welcoming attitude, mutual respect, and encouraging spirit contribute to a learning environment conducive to genuine professional growth and learning.

jhooper.ca

LUI is the regional office for
London College of Music Examinations,
University of West London covering Asia, Middle East & Africa.
www.lui.com.sg

Established in 1887, the London College of Music (LCM) is known internationally as the leading music examination body. LCM is also the largest specialist Music and Performing Arts institute in the UK.
www.uwl.ac.uk/academic-schools/music

LUI EVENTS PTE LTD

Tel: +65 6622 5868 57 Mohd Sultan Road
Fax: +65 6622 5867 #03-05 Sultan-Link
Email: info@lui.com.sg The Tokyo Suite
Web: www.lui.com.sg Singapore 238997

